Andover Youth Charged With Series Of Downtown Breaks

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Andover police have charged a 14-year-old Andover boy with a month-long series of downtown break-ins in which small amounts of cash were stolen from a number of business offices.

In juvenile court at Lawrence District Court Monday, the youth was charged on 65 counts, including breaking and entering in the daytime (before sunset), possession of burglarious instruments (tools used to gain illegal entry, including stolen keys), larceny, and attempts to break into two safes.

According to police, a second juvenile may have been involved in the breaks as well, and police are currently investigating that possibility.

Andover Police Det. John Bernhardt said Monday that the boy was arrested Saturday night after breaking into offices at 15 Central St. for the second time. The arrest ended a "round-the-clock" investigation that involved a team of ten detectives and police officers, Bernhardt said.

Det. Joseph Hastings and Patrolman Kevin Burke picked up the boy at his Andover home Saturday night, after he was described by a witness at the Central Street office building, Bernhardt said.

(The detective declined to identify the witness. Police already "had an idea of who we were looking for" before they received the witness's information, he added.)

The boy was brought to the police station, where he was interrogated and later confessed, the detective said.

The court set bail Monday morning at $50,000 or $5,000 cash; the youth was unable to make bail, and is now in the custody of the Department of Youth Services. A pre-trial hearing has been scheduled for Aug. 13, and a trial will be held Aug. 29.

The boy was also arrested in Andover three months ago, Bernhardt said, for breaking and entering and malicious damage at Doherty Junior High School in early May.

Det. Bernhardt explained that police were convinced the 35 business breaks were the work of one person because nearly all followed a pattern: They happened on Friday and Saturday evenings during the past month, "jimmy marks" were found on doors where the entry was made, and only cash was stolen, usually from desk drawers or petty cash supplies.

"He was nickle and diming it," he said. The boy told police he only wanted cash, the detective said, and the total stolen is still undetermined because in some cases, the amounts were so small that office tenants were not sure how much was missing.

The boy allegedly took up to $300 in cash from one office and more than $200 worth of silver coins from another, although the amounts taken were usually much smaller.

He "cased" each potential target, according to police, by visiting the office during the day and offering to do odd jobs. While in the building, Bernhardt said, the boy looked around, asked questions of employees, and sometimes stole master keys.

The youth would then return to a building on a Friday or Saturday evening, police said, sometimes breaking in and sometimes letting himself in with stolen keys.

If he failed to gain entry on his first attempt, he often tried the same building again on another night, Bernhardt added — and he sometimes entered a building more than once.

Bernhardt noted that no breaks occurred at buildings that have alarm security systems.

Businesses were broken into throughout the downtown area, the detective said, from Main Street and Chestnut Street down to Park Street, Central Street and Elm Square.

Among the victims, according to Bernhardt, were the Fred C. Church Agency and the offices of Drs. Michael Gravallese, Michael Terlizzi and Grace Kim at Olde Andover Village, 93 Main St.; Fortune Life Center and the offices of Dr. Sanford Kaufman at 1 Elm Square; the offices of Drs. Calvin Perry and James Casazza at 15 Central St.; the Anticipation shop and the offices of Atty. Charles Dalton at 68 Park St.; Richmond Properties, 52 Main St.; 11 Chestnut St.; St. Matthew's Lodge on High Street, "and many others."

The boy allegedly tried unsuccessfully to break into safes at the Andover Feder-

Shawsheen State Aid Is Sought

The School Committee hopes to add $100,000 to the town's general fund to reimburse half the cost of the renovations of the Shawsheen School—if the State Department of Education agrees that the new Early Childhood Center has met state requirements for a such a building.

The school department has applied for reimbursement of half the $200,000 used to renovate the building which last year housed school administrative offices and will open this fall as the central location for the town's kindergarten and readiness classes. The building is located off Ann's Lane.

Tuesday evening the School Committee voted 4 to 1 to approve the "educational specifications" that will be sent to the state, with member Susan T. Poore passing on the vote. Board Chairman Donald W. Robb and members Richard W. Neal, Michael R. Giammusso and Robert F. Smith approved the school department's plans.

School Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert told THE TOWNSMAN that reimbursement of the costs of constructing school buildings isn't new to the town. Andover has received as much as 65 percent back on school buildings it has con-

Renamed To Term On State Board

James D. Doherty

James D. Doherty, president of the Independent Insurance Agents of Massachusetts and veteran Andover insurance and real estate broker, has been reappointed to a six-year term on the board of governors of the Commonwealth Automobile Reinsurers.

Insurance Commissioner Peter Hiam made the announcement this past week. Doherty was originally appointed to the prestigious position in November 1980 by the then Commissioner Michael Sabbagh. At that time the organization was known as the Massachusetts Motor Vehicle Reinsurance Facility.

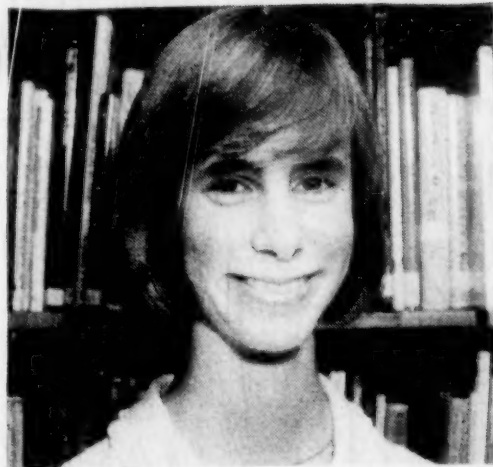

The board, consisting of six agents and seven insurance company representatives, supervises the reinsurance pool of more than $600,000,000 of auto insurance premiums and has a direct impact on all companies, agents and brokers handling auto insurance in the state. The board's primary concern is to guarantee the availability of an auto insurance market for all agents and brokers in the state as well as all qualified insurance buyers in the Commonwealth.

Whale Watch Cruise Set

The Department of Community Services will sponsor a four-hour whale watch cruise, departing from Rose Wharf. A bus will leave the rear parking lot of the Town Offices building at noon and return at approximately 7 p.m. Advance registration is required and the DCS office. Registration deadline is August 10.

Reuse Group To Review Projects

Getting ready to gear up for fall, the Reuse Committee will meet at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 21, at town offices on Bartlet Street.

Committee Chairman Lawrence Spiegel says the meeting will be used to "get a jump on fall" — when the committee will resume its efforts in earnest.

The agenda includes a review of the status of all current reuse projects, he said, including the former East Junior High (now home to town and school offices), where landscaping work is nearing completion; and the Memorial Hall Library project, where construction has yet to begin.

The committee will prepare to "start really getting down to grips" on the question of how the old Town Hall will be reused as well, Spiegel added, now that town offices have been settled into their new quarters for several months, leaving the old town house vacant.

Light Agenda Facing Selectmen

The Board of Selectmen will hold their second meeting of the summer at 7:30 next Monday night, Aug. 13, and it looks like their agenda may be exceedingly light.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony

said this week he has little business, routine or otherwise, lined up for the selectmen, who last met on July 16. The manager said he anticipated a brief session.

The board is not scheduled to meet again until September.

Planners To Discuss Subdivision

The Planning Board is scheduled to meet at 7:30 next Tuesday night, Aug. 14, at town offices on Bartlet Street.

Among the items on their agenda: a review of preliminary plans for Hawk Ridge, a subdivision proposed for Rattlesnake Hill Road.

The planners may also discuss a special permit for earth regrading for Riverside Park, an industrial subdivision proposed for River Road.

The board has also scheduled a meeting for Tuesday, Aug. 28.

Blood Drive Monday At St. Augustine's

The amount of blood local hospitals have for use always drops to critically low levels in the summer and this year is no exception, according to Kim Cronin of the American Red Cross blood services.

If healthy people would donate blood once every two months there would be enough blood for use by all patients whether they are able to donate or not. This Monday, Aug. 13, Andover residents may donate blood at the St. Augustine's Community Blood Drive at the St. Augustine's school hall, Central Street, from 3 to 8 p.m. The procedure takes about one hour.

Donors must be between the ages of 17 and 65, weigh at least 110 pounds, have no history of hepatitis and be in good health.

Those who give blood will receive coupons for use at Papa Gino's restaurant, in Andover.

Class Of '79 Planning Reunion

Andover High School Class of 1979 will celebrate its fifth year reunion Sunday, Aug. 26, from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the Andover Recreational Park.

Because no mailing list of the class is available, attempts have been made to reach graduates by telephone. All members of the class are urged to help by contacting each other.

A chicken barbecue dinner will be served. The music will be provided by the group, "Brandy," who have more than distinguished themselves through playing the wedding circuit.

Tickets can be obtained from Ted Teichert at the Sport Shop in downtown Andover. Graduates are permitted one guest. It is urged that tickets be obtained as soon as possible as a count must be given to the caterer.

Christie Jean Lyons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Lyons, 46 York St., Andover is the recipient of this year's Rev. James F. McNulty Scholarship to Merrimack College.

The $1,000 annual scholarship, made each year to one or more full-time students at Merrimack College, was established by friends of the late Fr. McNulty, a native of Andover and a nationally known spiritual author and expert in preaching and retreat work. Recipients of the one-year, non-renewable scholarship, chosen on the basis of need and merit, must be members of St. Augustine Parish in Andover. St. Augustine's and Merrimack College are staffed by the Order of St. Augustine, the religious order of which Fr. McNulty was a member.

She has been a volunteer at Lawrence General Hospital for the past year. Lyons begins her freshman year this fall at Merrimack and plans to major in computer science.

Scout Volunteers

Louise Van Everen is surrounded by members of Boy Scout Troop 75 who worked Saturday to put some finishing touches to Rogers Dell picnic area at School street and Lupine Road.

Scouts Finish Dell Work

A group of Andover Boy Scouts put the finishing touches on the Rogers Dell park, at the corner of School Street and Lupine Road. Throughout the spring and summer the park, once a dumping ground for all kinds of debris, was spruced up by a number of Andover groups and individuals under the direction of Louise Van Everen and the Andover Conservation Commission and the Appalachian Mountain Club.

This Saturday Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts from St. Augustine's Troop 75 spent three hours raking wood chips and putting a final cover of the chips down and moving logs on the site. The scouts helping out on Saturday were Frank Odum, William Melahn and Pat Kennedy and scoutmaster Erni Darby. Cub Scouts Eric Demers, Chris Payne, Andrew Paradis and Jim Odum also helped the older boys. Their troop leader Paul Dollard helped on Saturday too.

Peter Oliver, national president of the Appalachian Mountain Clubs was at the dell on Saturday to oversee the work as was local Andover Committee Appalachian Club member Robert Marcus, Andover Conservation Commission member Dina Hammond and scout administrators Frank Odum and Tom Kennedy.

Kitchen Design

David A. Clement, designer

Any kitchen with a few extra feet of floor space can benefit from a planning center. Not only can such an area provide a calm, clean place to review recipes and make calculations, but it may also be the perfect spot for a home computer application. Locate the planning center in a part of the kitchen that is away from the main work and activity areas. Provide adequate lighting for paper work. The desk surface should be 30 inches from the floor. Note that this height is 6 inches below the standard counter height of the rest of the kitchen. Also, plan for an electrical outlet, specialized storage for records, recipes and supplies and space for a bulletin board.

Knowing that you need to remodel your kitchen is one thing, but planning it properly and getting an ideal layout is another. The experienced staff at WINDSOR KITCHENS will be able to assist you in all areas of kitchen refurbishing. We provide you with modern designs that leave room for flexibility. We also have a decorator service ranging from walls and lighting to floor coverings. You'll get quality service and products created by expert craftsmen. Visit our showroom at 1181 Boston Rd., Ward Hill, to plan now for your future. Mon-Thurs. 9-5:30; Fri. til 8; Sat. til 2. Tel. 372-3444.

HANDY HINT:

The Mayor Of Ballardvale Still Enjoys Working At Age 85

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The Mayor of Ballardvale celebrated his 85th birthday this week, and even though George Bruce laughs at that unofficial title, he admits that he is quite probably the oldest 'Vale native still living in the village.

He was born in Ballardvale on Aug. 6, 1899, and Ballardvale is where he stayed. Leaving Andover is something he "wouldn't even think of," Mr. Bruce says, because he likes the town and the people in it.

On a Saturday morning at the grocery store, he says, his late wife often asked him, "Is there anyone in Andover you don't know?"

Mr. Bruce is still meeting people, working four mornings a week (Monday through Thursday) as a clerk and cashier at Scanlon's Hardware store on Main Street — a job he accepted 16 years ago after a half-hearted retirement from a sales career.

"I stayed home for three months," he says of his brief absence from the business world, "and I could not stand it. I felt so useless."

He is warm, smiling, and decidedly energetic — although he jokes that the staircase from Scanlon's basement to the street level seems to grow a few new stairs every day. "That's the best of working here," he explains. "It has kept my life active. I like to keep myself busy, I like to meet people."

The son of Elizabeth and Ralph Bruce, George was raised in a three-story tenement house in the center of Ballardvale (a site now occupied by a gas station). He attended the Bradlee School in the 'Vale, and missed being drafted into military service during two wars ("In World War I, I was just too young, and in World War II, I was just too old").

The Ballardvale of his youth revolved around the village's textile mills: White flannel manufactured in the 'Vale was judged the whitest in the world during the 1904 World's Fair, he remembers.

The millworkers' day began at six in the morning and ended at six in the evening — noon on Saturday — and they labored for about seven dollars a week.

On Saturdays, crowds of Andover residents boarded a two o'clock train for Lawrence and spent the afternoon in the city — "quite a treat," George recalls. "There was good train service then, twenty trains to Lawrence a day and twenty-one trains to Boston. They ran from six-thirty in the morning to twelve-fifteen to Lawrence, and from six in the morning to ten-thirty at night to Boston."

Once off the train in South Lawrence, "Dad took me to the movies while Mother went shopping. There used to be a lot of nice theatres on Broadway." The price of a ticket was "very expensive," he says with a wink: "ten cents."

Back in Andover, George spent his summer afternoons playing baseball — without benefit of parks or playgrounds, he notes. "We had to make our own fun." Or he would spend hours picking Billy Scanlon, left, the youngest employee at Scanlon's Hardware, offers birthday wishes to the store's oldest employee, George Bruce, who celebrated his 85th birthday with a party at the store on Monday. Mr. Bruce has been a part-time employee at Scanlon's for the past 16 years.

U.F. Aids Samaritans' Move

A special grant from the Merrimack Valley United Fund has helped The Samaritans move to larger quarters at 55 Jackson St., Lawrence. The 24-hour suicide prevention and befriending service is now located in the rear of a newly-renovated Victorian house purchased last spring by Associates in Psychological Services. The house, built in 1859, is the fourth in the Jackson Court neighborhood to be transformed from an eyesore to a showpiece. The new owners, Joseph Ruggieri and Kenneth Rogers, painted the house Newport brown with Philadelphia trim, guided by "Painted Ladies," a book on the Victorian houses of San Francisco.

The new space gives The Samaritans' 70 volunteers much-needed room for their six emergency telephones and walk-in services to those at risk of suicide or worried about someone who is. Since The Samaritans opened four years ago in a room donated by Grace Episcopal Church, calls for help have increased from 15 a day to nearly 90 calls a day from people of all ages and situations who are desperate for someone to talk to.

New volunteers are always needed. Applications for the September training course are being accepted now. For more information, call The Samaritans.

Atkins Feels State Senate Has Prepared Him For Congress Seat

By Susan Rand

Congressional candidate Chet Atkins thinks his experience as a state senator has prepared him well for the job he wants representing the Fifth Congressional District in Washington, D.C.

Atkins, (D-Concord), will face Lowell Senator Philip L. Shea in the Sept. 18 primary, where Atkins told THE TOWNSMAN the real race for Jim Shannon's seat in congress was. He said he didn't care which of his Republican challengers he faced in the Nov. 6 finals, adding with a laugh that he would rather not face either one. Methuen's Gregg Hyatt and Thomas Tierney, of Framingham, are the Republicans running for the seat Shannon is vacating to seek Sen. Paul Tsongas' seat.

Atkins was campaigning in Andover Monday. He had meetings with Town Manager Kenneth Mahoney, Fire Chief William Downs, Police Chief James Johnson and Jim Doherty, Pete Reming and he stopped at Ford's Coffee Shop, Raytheon, Stowe Court and DeMoulas.

Andover residents Maryann Marusich, Tom Meyers, Ed Meagher, M.J. Powell and Harriet Ahouse are working on the Atkins campaign in Andover, along with about two dozen others. They taxied Atkins around town and to his local Lawrence headquarters on Monday. The candidate said he was surprised at the large numbers of Andover residents that recognized him as he made his way around town.

Local issues Atkins, who is 36, said he would carry to Washington if elected include lobbying for a Route 93 interchange at Lowell Junction to clear what he called the traffic problem there and help provide access to developable land off the highway. He also said public access to and preservation of land along the Merrimack River was something he would work with Sen. Pat McGovern to achieve.

Harriet Ahouse, praised Atkins' efforts as the six-year leader of the Senate Ways and Means Committee saying his creativity with state budgets could be translated to the same type of work on the federal level. And among the accomplishments of which he is most proud Atkins listed his efforts to control state spending and helping cities and towns to survive the first years of Proposition 2½.

The senator discussed some of the legislation he worked on while adding that his Democratic opponent Shea hasn't any major legislation to his credit after 12 years in the state senate.

Besides his budgetary work, Atkins considers himself a protector of the environment having initiated water conservation legislation in the state that he said could be a model for a national program. He also credited himself with doubling state scholarship money for both public and private institutions and working to "put teeth" in the state's child support laws to get parents who are paying child support to pay more than the one out of three dollars owed that they now contribute, he said.

Andover's Atkins Advocates

Sporting "Chet Atkins for Congress" buttons are four Andover residents who are working on the Concord Democrat's campaign for Jim Shannon's fifth congressional district post. They are, standing, Tom Meyers and Ed Meagher; seated, Harriet Ahouse, Atkins and Maryann Marusich.

As he was listing his accomplishments Atkins was quick to note he didn't work on his own in Boston, "I'm not a one-man band," he said. "I work with others in the legislature to get things done."

The Concord Democrat, who also chairs the state Democratic party said turning his focus to national issues won't be a tough job for him. One area he doesn't work with as a senator but is looking forward to tackling is foreign policy, an area he has been interested in since he entered the legislature 14 years ago.

Atkins said the United States' conduct in Central America was an area he was particularly concerned with. He is also interested in the Middle East and visited Israel last January to meet with government leaders and tour the West Bank area. Active in the state's efforts for a nuclear freeze, Atkins looks to continuing that fight in Washington.

Probably the most important national issue facing Americans is the deficit, said Atkins, who outlined solutions to the over $170 billion problem. To remedy that expense the senator said his experience in controlling state government spending would come in handy.

"The deficit has more immediate impact than any other issue in people's lives," he said. "It is related to everything else from arms control to Central America and any approach to it is going to be bitter medicine."

Atkins suggested cuts in the increases planned for the military budget and at the same time said the country had to strengthen its conventional military forces by redirecting some of the funds planned for so-called "Star Wars" nuclear weapons systems.

Cutbacks in domestic programs are also necessary but Atkins cautioned that such cutbacks had to be done without "causing hardship to people." He suggested a program similar to the Massachusetts method of detecting fraud in the food stamp program which will save the state $4 million this year.

"Those kinds of programs made mandatory around the country will add up," said Atkins.

He said he was against increasing income taxes and for investigating the tax "give-aways" for loopholes that should be abolished.

As the leader of the state Democratic party Atkins said his familiarity with Walter F. Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro, who are running for president and vice-president, will give him "better access" and make him more effective nationally—especially if the Democrats win the White House this fall, something Atkins said he would like to assume would happen, but adding with a smile that "one doesn't assume anything."

As the state's Democratic leader, Atkins said that while he was running his campaign the kind of support he could give the Mondale and Ferraro forces was an "enthusiasm and excitement" in the state's political process that would build support for them. In the event that his party loses in November, Atkins said his job, if elected, would be more difficult especially in the areas of arms control, foreign policy, taxes and funneling federal dollars to New England.

Atkins said the newfound excitement, especially among women, over Mondale's choice of Geraldine Ferraro for a running mate would help his campaign because more people are becoming involved in presidential politics.

Included in the Fifth Congressional District are Lawrence and Lowell and 26 towns: Andover, Acton, Ashby, Ayer, Ashburnham, Bedford, Boxborough, Carlisle, Chelmsford, Concord, Dunstable, Dracut, Framingham, Groton, Harvard, Lincoln, Littleton, Maynard, Methuen, Pepperell, Sudbury, Townsend, Tyngsborough, Wayland.

Activities At The Playground

All Day

Week number six was another unforgettable experience. The craft of the day on Monday was macaroni jewelry. Tasha Roberts, Evan Ferguson, Alyssa Farris, Christine Mullen and Mike Kelley created some stunning jewelry. Hit and Run took up some gym time with Sarah Halleran, David Haleran, Jon Deloge, Jen Buck, Liz Carew, Gwendy Duff and Jennifer Farris dominating the game. Aron Johnson, Ryan Ahern and Tommy Christopher also put good effort into Prison Dodgeball. Tuesday was another busy day. Macaroni pictures occupied a number of playgrounders, including Megan Kelley, Jared Greenberg, Stephen Carter, Amy Ahern, Kelly Ferguson and Stephanie Buck. Wednesday morning the kids all joined in for a sing-a-long, chanting a number of favorite playground tunes. Bottle vases were made by a number of children, including Brenda Brightman, Shannon Kelley, Maureen Mullen, Evan Duff, Mike Kelley and Amy Ahern. Thursday preparations were started for the Everybody's Birthday Party on Friday. Jared Freenberg, Maureen Mullen, Stephanie Buck, Jen Buck and Megan Kelley were some of the kids who helped create the birthday calendar. T-shirt autographing was another activity on Thursday.

Bancroft

On Monday Matt Trede, Robin Ratyna, and Matt Daniels made some fantastic colored salt pictures. The "come as you are" day on Tuesday was a great success. Kara and Meghan O'Handley, Alison Bicknell and Meghan Watt all rolled out of bed and came in their sleeping attire. Jenn cooked regular, blueberry and chocolate pancakes. Although the puppet show was cancelled on Wednesday, everyone managed to have a fun-filled day. Sharon and Jenn led the kids in making chocolate chip and M&M cookies. Billy held down the fort in the gym, playing soccer and teaching soccer and teaching Matt Trede and Brad McCue how to be true, honest to goodness "karate kids" while abusing the other counselors. Thursday, "Bancroft Breakers" Jason McCue, John Saalfrank, Todd Allard and Ted Ratyna showed their red-hot stuff to the tunes of Midnight Star. Everyone enjoyed the secret surprise of cookies, especially Danny Castello, Morgan Collins and Todd Allard who won the biggest cookie for being good all day.

Doherty

Doherty playground had a fiesta on Monday with a pinata. Leah Mason, Lisa Allen, Ken Lynch, Amy Morris, Karah and Erin McCarthy were part of the crew. Alex Orbin, Stephen and Christina Tsepas, Nazanne Khoury, Matt Gendron and Allen and Jamie Stratton were there too. Tuesday was just as much as fun. It was pajama day for everyone. There were doughnuts from Ciro's for all to eat: Brandi Maxwell, Jamie and Andy Lynch were among those dressed for the treat. On Wednesday there was a picnic and bowling at Andover Lanes on Thursday. Friday brought a "Pinocchio" puppet show at Rec Park.

Sanborn

Everyone showed their individuality at Sanborn this week. On Monday everyone wore placemats and held the usual spectacular day. Tuesday everyone played dodge ball and old lady witch where Eric Rahlstrom proved that the witch isn't always a lady. Aldo Eric Bourasso made an awesome blow panting. Wednesday everyone got creative with their names and although they started out as doodles, they really were works of art. Thursday brought the week's high point when David Driben brought the initial ammunition for an out-and-out mid-summer water fight.

South

South began its sixth week by making friendship pins. Jaclyn Escott and Megan Houston were master pin makers. Beth Picardi, acting as Indian chief, led her scouts, Mokoto Mari and Tina Kollaries, in capturing the cowboys which included Andy Houston. Tuesday was filled with spooks and goblins for it as Halloween day. Maura Landry dressed as a poodle and Lyra and Vanessa Dunaway came as Cabbage Patch kids. The day was filled with apple-bobbing, a barnyard holler and a haunted house. Wednesday was a day of gym games which included indoor soccer, floor hockey and dodge ball. Many kids participated in other games, including hang man, Alpha-bet Soup and capture the flag. A joke, talent and magic show was the highlight of Thursday. Nick Zammuto put on a fascinating magic show as well as Elisa Derby and Joey Fillipon. Friday was a fun-filled day. The puppet show, "Pinocchio," was shown in Recreation Park. Some kids ventured to Pomp's pond for a cooling swim while others remained at South for a cookout and games.

of excitement. Monday Wayne Davis and Adam Heller excelled at kickball. Popsicle art as the big event on Tuesday. Lisa Hayes, Cathy Guiliani and Vanessa Blank were creative in their designs. Wednesday the main event was check swing baseball where Ressie Hayes dominated. Dog catcher and Captain's Ship were the games most enjoyed on Friday. No one could keep up with Chris O'Connell in dog catcher and Matt Davis was extraordinary at Captain's Ship.

West Elementary

Monday was an exciting day. All the kids were present when Craig Silva, supervisor, received a bouquet of balloons to wish him luck on a knee operation that day. In honor of the Olympics, Tuesday was Olympic Day. Team captains included Billy Hoffman for France, Joey Sirois for Spain and John Melillo for Italy. Medalists included Mike Kelly, David Charland, Adam Ferry, Andy Cohen, Nathan Mullet, Kathy Bailly, Marc Selvitelli, Rachel Roberts, Nate Roberts, Layne Whitley, Jenni Amirto, Amy Baker, Robin Plaughter, Joan Sunderland, Megan McKee, Todd Abertnathy, Keith Selvitelli, Jenny Bailly, Aimee Ferry, Andy Brent, Billy Hoffman and Jeremy Ronx. All who participated performed excellently. Because the puppet show was postponed on Wednesday, the pinatas were finished and filled with candy. Counselor Lauren Petzold had part of the gang engaged in potholder making. Thursday was Toga Day. Many arrived in fashionable sheets and everyone was looking forward to the puppet show on Friday.

Tiny Tot And Preschool

Week number six was a busy one at the Tiny Tot and Preschool playgrounds. Kelley Walsh celebrated her birthday on Friday. Tiffany Horne brought in a super show and tell item, her very own bubble gum machine with a penny for each of the Tiny Tots to test it. Mark Zammuto led the Tiny Tots in a special dance called Sammy. The week ended with a beach day and picnic on the Bancroft School lawn with a Big Bird sprinkler substituting as the ocean.

The Preschool children enjoyed a bus ride to Recreation Park and a play about Pinocchio. There were very creative puppets designed by the children on Wednesday. Katie Stone made a puppet out of bows. Matthew Redmond's puppet was a friend of Pinocchio's with a very small nose. He didn't tell any lies.

Swimmers Ear

Swimmer's ear is an infection of the outer ear canal caused by mold, fungi or bacteria. When water gets into the ear, it brings fungi and bacteria particles with it. Usually the water particles run out, allowing the ear to dry. It is when water gets lodged in the ear canal that problems begin. Placing an eyedropperful of rubbing alcohol into the ear after swimming helps dry out the ear and may even kill the bacteria and fungi.

Swimmer's ear symptoms progress from itchiness to a milky draining to earache. The following are all symptoms of the infection: itchiness, blockage, swelling, drainage, pain, tenderness. When any of these symptoms appear, a physician should be seen.

Collins Center Tickets Go On Sale

Ray Charles

Tickets for the gala second season of dazzling entertainment at the J. Everett Collins Center in Andover go on sale Monday, Aug. 13, at the Collins Center Box Office from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sponsored by the Andover Bank, the first production of the Collins Center's festive second season will be Ray Charles, the Raelettes and the Ray Charles Orchestra, one of America's most popular entertainers, who will do two shows Sunday, Sept. 23, at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Last season's opener, sponsored by Andover Bank, the Boston Pops, was a sell-out, and this year, due to the anticipated large number of season subscribers for the 7 p.m. performance, the general public will be able to get the best seats for the 4 p.m. show.

Tickets are available at the Andover Bank main branch on Main Street in Andover, the North Andover branch, Main Street, North Andover, and at Just for You on Main Street, Andover, and the Collins Center box office.

The golden era of Harlem comes to the Collins Center with the "jumpin" and "jivey" musical "Ain't Misbehavin'," featuring original Broadway cast members in a bouncy and brassy show filled with the music of Fats Waller. "The songs alone are worth the price of admission!" says the "New York Sun." "Honeysuckle Rose," "Yo' Feet Too Big," and "The Joint is Jumpin'" "Ain't Misbehavin'" comes to the Merrimack Valley for one night only, Tuesday, Oct. 16, at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the Collins Center box office and other ticket outlets.

The dazzling international company, Les Ballets Jazz de Montreal, comes Friday, Oct. 19, at 8 p.m.

The celebrated piano virtuoso, Peter Serkin, and the Springfield Symphony Orchestra will appear for one night, Thursday, Oct. 25, at 8 p.m. with a limited number of tickets available. In all, 15 fabulous shows are scheduled for the second dazzling season at the Collins Center in Andover. Tickets for all events will be available at the box office Monday through Friday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Since a large percentage of the available tickets will be held by season subscribers, the general public is encouraged to visit the box office early to select tickets for one or more of the exciting events.

To Present Concert In Methuen

The Methuen Memorial Music Hall continues its summer series of organ recitals with a presentation by Franklin G. Coleman on Wednesday, Aug. 15, at 8:30 p.m.

Coleman received his Bachelor of Music and Master of Music degrees from Boston University where he was a student of Max Miller. Other teachers included Thomas Matthews, Alex Wyton and Stephen Cleobury. He is a Fellow of Trinity College, London. Coleman is chairman of the music department and organist-choirmaster of St. George's School and Emmanuel Church, Newport, R.I., and has given frequent recitals in New York and the midwest.

His recital includes: Magnificat primi toni, Dietrich Buxtehude; Sonata No. 2 ("Fantasie-Sonate") in A-flat Major, Joseph Rheinberger; Prelude and Fugue in d minor, Theodore Dubois; Canzona, Herbert Sumson; Preludio "Sine nomine," Herbert Howells; Postlude in d minor, Charles V. Stanford.

It is interesting to note that at one time the Methuen Memorial Music Hall organ had a close relationship with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. In 1881 the orchestra was founded and joined the Great Organ in residence at the Boston Music Hall. As the musical taste of the public shifted and the expanding orchestra required more stage space, the organ was removed and put into storage. Thirteen years later Edward F. Searles of Methuen purchased this magnificent instrument and set about to provide a new home for it.

The Music Hall is located on Broadway (Route 28) in Methuen, just south of the square.

Organist John Ayer will present a recital on Wednesday, Aug. 22.

Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Col. and Mrs. Yale H. Wolfe

Col. and Mrs. Yale H. Wolfe of Royal Crest Apartments, North Andover, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with a family gathering in North Andover last week.

The retired U.S. Army colonel and the former Helen Kane were married on Aug. 1, 1934, in Jackson Heights, N.Y.

Col. Wolfe retired from the military after 30 years of service with the Army Artillery, and later worked in the systems engineering department at AVCO for 10 years.

The Wolfes are the parents of six children: Yale, Jr. and Joseph, both of Virginia; Neil, of Texas; Christa Wolfe Jessico, of Burlington; Philip, of New Hampshire; and Edward, who is stationed with the U.S. Air Force at Carswell Air Force Base in Texas.

The family observed the Wolfes' 50th anniversary with a family gathering at the Sword and Shield restaurant in North Andover, with Neil, Christa and Philip attending.

School Board Sets Direction

School Committee members set their course of action for the coming school year in a draft of their annual "direction letter" which outlines the areas the five member board will address.

Included in this year's committee work will be the development of a new way to figure school costs, curriculum reviews for elementary and secondary schools, implementation of a quality assurance program, a review of diploma requirements for graduation, an analysis of a secondary school survey completed last year and discussion of the "middle school concept." The committee will also expect reports on programs new for the 1984-85 school year such as the Early Childhood Center at the Shawsheen School, the new mathematics program in kindergarten through grade six and a study of computers in schools.

Committee Chairman Donald W. Robb put together the letter which is a synthesis of five separate lists of goals that each member submitted to him earlier this year. The letter will be sent home with school children at the beginning of school this September.

Robb elaborated on some of the items to be discussed next year with THE TOWNSMAN after Tuesday night's committee meeting.

He said the creation of a "program-based budget" will give both the School Committee and Andover residents an idea of how much it costs the town to run different school programs. At present the budget is written in a form compatible with the State Department of Education, a must so the state can auditors the budget. The new method, explained Robb, would show, for example, how much the science or home economics program costs for the year. It would also be handy for use at Town Meeting to make the school budget more understandable.

An analysis of a survey about the effectiveness of the town's three secondary schools will also be on the docket for the coming school year. Administered by West Junior High School Principal William Hart, the survey, which was sent to parents of school children, staff members, students and former graduates, will provide new information about the two junior high schools and the high school for the assistant superintendent for secondary education, a post which has not yet been filled.

A study of how students in grades six through nine are grouped will be at the heart of discussion of a "middle school concept," said Robb. Middle schools are for students in grades six, seven and eight and junior high schools, of which Andover has two, are for students in grades seven, eight and nine.

If the change from junior high schools to a middle school is made sometime in the future, Robb said he didn't believe it would mean another new school building for Andover. Instead, he suggested as an example that middle schoolers could use both the Andover High school building and the West Junior High School, which is just a driveway away from the high school.

"We aren't saying that we are going to do this," Robb cautioned of the middle school plan, "but this would be a good year to talk about it with a new assistant superintendent for secondary education starting."

At present the high school building, where tenth, eleventh and twelfth graders are in school, wouldn't hold another grade, said Robb. The building holds a maximum of 1,250 students. This past year there were about 1,273 at Andover High, he said, adding that the numbers of high school age students are dropping while there is an increase in the population in kindergarten and first grade.

Establishments Voluntarily Put Halt To Happy Hours

By Susan Rand

A number of Andover establishments serving alcohol have stopped selling their drinks at cut rate prices at what are commonly referred to as "happy hours," while state officials debate the merits of making the bargain beer nights illegal throughout Massachusetts.

In a telephone poll of eight Andover restaurants that serve alcohol THE TOWNSMAN found that only two have regularly scheduled nights when drinks are discounted, two have stopped scheduling happy hours and three never had the reduced rate drinks.

The managers of the Sheraton Rolling Green, Lowell Street, are hoping their decision to stop happy hours will influence the managers of other Andover establishments to do the same. Senior Vice-President Paul Lopez, who works for Inncorp, the Andover-based company that runs the Sheraton, said his hotel is taking a loss because of their decision but he hopes other restaurants will follow the Sheraton's lead.

Incorp stopped happy hours at the beginning of July and now serves free coffee at night to patrons of the hotel's bar. The special discounts, which featured 50¢ off the price of a drink or $1 draught beers, brought in about 25 percent more drinkers to the hotel bar during happy hours, said Lopez. But the happy hours also attracted persons interested in getting drunk, he conceded, and bartenders are legally bound to "cut off" persons thought to be drunk.

"It is really hard to be a judge of people," said Lopez of the bartender's job. "Guests don't react well and often would disagree with the bartender's analysis of their sobriety."

Lopez said he hopes a law passes to ban happy hours, which is what the state Alcohol Beverage Control Commission (ABCC) is debating in a series of six public hearings around the state.

According to ABCC chairman George McCarthy, the former mayor of Everett, one hearing has been held in Worcester, two hearings were held yesterday in Brockton and Barnstable and on Thursday, Aug. 31, and Saturday, Sept. 15. The final ABCC hearing is set for Wednesday, Sept. 13, in Boston. After the hearings, at which anyone is invited to discuss a possible ban on happy hours, the three-person commission, now missing one member, will draft a regulation to be discussed at a public hearing in Boston sometime after the Sept. 13 hearing. If the commission votes to ban the happy hours a regulation doing that will be sent to Gov. Michael S. Dukakis to be signed in to law.

McCarthy said sentiment at his office has been running in favor of a happy hour ban where daily telephone calls, letters and newspaper editorials from as far away as Nebraska support the move.

"Happy hours are becoming a very serious problem," said McCarthy. "People are being offered more liquor in a shorter time and often on empty stomachs." He added that his office was aware of specials that advertise as many as four drinks for the price of one.

Managers of the two Andover restaurants that hold regular happy hours don't think their businesses would be hurt by the abolition of the discount nights and both said happy hours don't draw that many more customers to their establishments. At Valle's, on River Road in West Andover, Wednesday evenings are ladies nights when drinks for women are 99¢ each for a few hours, said manager Bob Sear. He also said happy hours are scheduled on Friday evenings featuring a glass of beer for 99¢. Sear said his bartenders were skilled at figuring out who is drunk and who isn't, adding that when there is a problem with a bar patron he takes over.

At the Ground Round, at 560 South Main St., manager Steve Sykes said he had no opinion about a possible ban of happy hours which are held at his restaurant from 3 to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturdays and feature discounts on liquor. He said the Ground Round has had happy hours for at least the last few years.

Happy hours became a thing of the past when David Weisberg took over at the 99 Restaurant, on 464 Lowell St. The 99 used to schedule the bargain drink nights, and still do at other 99 restaurants, but when Weisberg took over in Andover three months ago they stopped. He said drunk driving seminars he had attended helped him decide to cancel happy hours because the sessions raised his awareness about how happy hours may contribute to roadway accidents.

The Andover Jade, Backstreet and Justin's restaurants have never had happy hours and according to Jimmy Kwong, manager of the Jade, in Shawsheen Plaza, the Jade never will have discounts on alcohol.

"I don't like the idea," he said. "I don't want people to get drunk here. They may get hurt and then you end up losing money."

Musgrove Building Is Sold

By Susan Rand

The owner of the Musgrove building and three other properties in Andover has signed a purchase and sale agreement with a Danvers investment group who will buy the property for an undisclosed amount.

The Liberty Group, located in Liberty Square, Danvers, should own the property, valued at over $1.5 million by town assessment records, after a routine title search, according to William Dalton, the Andover attorney who handled the transaction for North Andover owner Robert E. Webster.

Webster told THE TOWNSMAN that he had "mixed emotions" about selling the property, especially the Musgrove building which he bought 15 years ago when it was declared unsafe by town inspectors. Webster couldn't say how much money he had spent to renovate the building which now houses six retail businesses on the ground level and over a dozen office suites on the second and third floors.

Also included in the sale are the two Regency Apartment complexes, located in Post Office Avenue and on Andover Street and three wooden structures on Post Office Avenue, which Webster said was a dirt street when he bought the real estate that house five commercial businesses.

Christopher Hatch and Jeffrey Rosen, of the Liberty Group, refused to discuss the sale with THE TOWNSMAN.

Webster said the three buyers, including Rosen and Hatch, would be "an asset to the community."

Dalton said transfer of the property would probably take place between Friday, Aug. 31, and Saturday, Sept. 15. He said Webster had been meeting with Liberty representatives since June 7 about the sale. Three other buyers, who Dalton refused to disclose, were interested in the property.

Webster told THE TOWNSMAN that the Channel Building Company, of which he is chairman of the board, will move out of the Musgrove building. He is searching for a suitable location and hopes to stay in Andover, he said.

The Regency Apartments complexes each have 26 one-bedroom units and were purchased by Webster in 1982 from North Andover developers Benjamin Osgood and Victor Hatem. The owners of the apartments is listed as Regency Realty Trust, of which Webster is the trustee.

The Musgrove building, which has approximately 26,000 square feet spread out over three floors, was built in 1895 by businessman John Flint. Webster bought it in 1973.

Town Gets Bonus

An unexpected bonus in the form of increased state aid will help Andover take care of a troubling deficit in its Fiscal Year 1985 budget, the Finance and Budget director said yesterday — and the town may have the burgeoning state lottery to thank, at least in part.

According to State Rep. Sue Tucker, Andover is about to receive $264,068 in state aid, a newly-revised figure.

Tucker said Monday that more money will be returned to Massachusetts cities and towns than originally budgeted, after a "legislative battle" to lift a cap on how much state money would be earmarked for local aid, commonly known as "cherry sheet" money.

The representative said she lobbied hard for more local aid, most of which will come from state lottery revenues and increased funds made available to communities outside the Metropolitan District Commission (MDC).

Finance and Budget Director Anthony Torrisi said yesterday that town officials have not yet been notified about the new cherry sheet figures, but will probably hear from the state within the next two weeks.

However, Torrisi said he had been expecting Andover to receive about $180,000 in local aid, and was "pleased" to hear about the higher figure. The director said the aid money would become part of the town's total available funds for Fiscal '85, to be taken into account when the Fiscal '85 tax rate is set.

The funds may be used to "offset over-expenditures" that have had the director "concerned," he said, including a deficit of approximately $160,000 for last winter's snow-fighting costs, and an abatement of $100,000 that the town has to pay.

With the help of the state aid money, Andover will be able to avoid dipping into Fiscal 1986 funds to cover the current deficit. Torrisi said.

In addition, the state legislature usually uses the previous year's allotment as a starting point when deciding how much local aid to award a community, he said, and this year's $264,068 "establishes a new (higher) base for us."

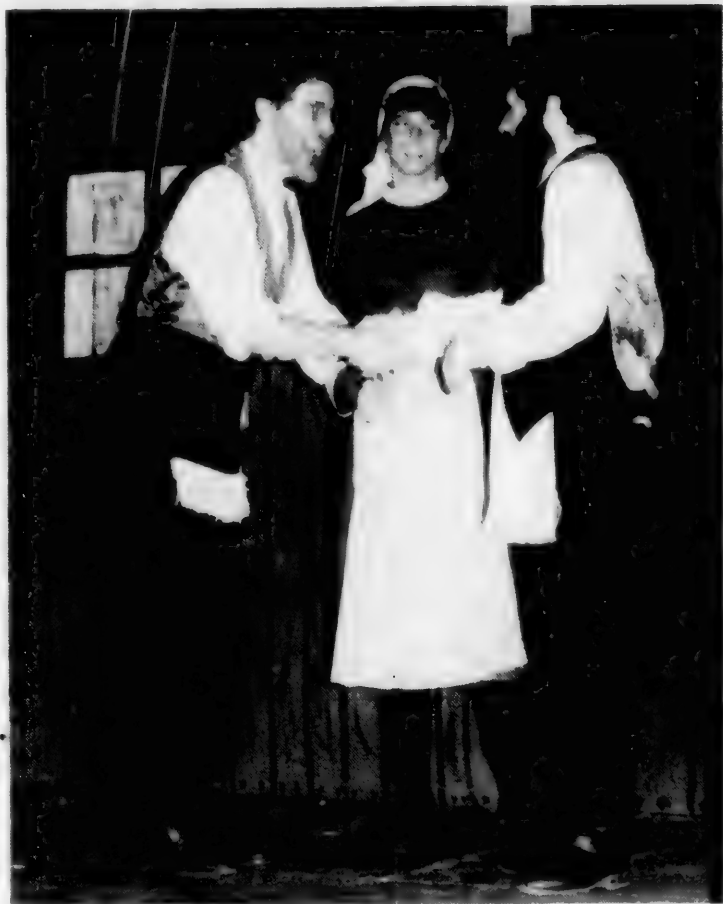

"I'm pleased that we'll be receiving more than we expected," Torrisi said, commending Andover's legislators for working for the increase.

He added that he hopes state lawmakers will "continue this kind of commitment down the road. We need the stability that state aid gives us."

Fiddler Photos

Members of the Andover Community Theatre are featured this weekend in the final two performances of "Fiddler on the Roof." The show may be seen tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p.m., at the Doherty Junior High School, Bartlet Street. Tickets are available at the door. Audit Saves Jobs

Examining the findings of the audit of the town's retirement system by the state auditor's office would indicate that the resulting critique was hardly anything of a serious nature.

If anything, it would seem that the auditors who examined Andover's books could find little to fault, thus nit-picked to preserve positions in a state office already said to be understaffed.

The state auditor's office is compelled to examine the community's books every three years.

Andover's retirement system was examined last fall and the report and recommendations given the town within the past month, an early indication that nothing of a serious nature could be wrong with the system. If there were serious flaws, wouldn't it be wiser to alert the community at the time of the findings, rather than waiting almost a year to point them out?

One of the criticisms centered around funding of the retirement system. Andover, like most all communities in the Commonwealth, was made aware a few years ago that the retirement system was not funded properly. The town administration, along with the retirement board, made provisions to rectify the matter by appropriating funds annually to the retirement account.

This the state auditors failed to either point out or overlook in their examination, even though the procedure had been in force for some time prior to and during the auditing period.

The state examiners were also critical of the town's investment policies.

Frankly, the board's action in this regard is to be applauded rather than criticized.

Board member William Downs pointed out that the attitude of the members is a conservative one. While admiring the possibility of potential higher return on investments, the board chooses instead to make its investments in more stable and sure returns, thus protecting the total funds.

There are other findings which seem petty in nature and give every indication that those who performed the work were insuring their continued employment by at least finding something to complain about.

The town's retirement system is governed by a group of people who have a more than passing interest in its stability and operation - - namely municipal employees who will one day call upon their own administrative abilities to benefit from the fund.

That, in itself, should insure its successful and business-like operation.

Report To Andover

By Rep. Sue Tucker

Some folks think that "rules reform" means replacing Tom McGee as Speaker of the House. While I do not support McGee's bid for another term as Speaker, I am, frankly, more interested in permanent, substantive rules changes which will make the House more efficient, accountable and democratic regardless of which person or party is on top.

Where are we with rules reform in the House? Virtually everyone familiar with the way the House operates agrees that more reform has been enacted in the last 18 months than has been enacted in the entire history of the Legislature.

Television coverage, for example, has been responsible for many changes. No longer are controversial bills or pay raises whisked through without debate—too many eyes are watching.

Then there is the important matter of whose bills are silently killed and whose bills get a fair hearing. Hundreds of bills are sent to one of the three "graveyard" committees: ways and means, rules or bills in third reading. Until this year only three men—the speaker plus the chairmen of the above named committees had the total power to bring to the floor or to kill any representative's bill. Now a petition signed by 40 percent of the members guarantees the release of a bill for debate.

The danger, of course, in a system with such concentrated control is the lack of accountability and democracy. Even though each legislator represents the same number of citizens, only those "in with the leadership" could be absolutely assured of fair treatment.

Another change, which always amazes citizens, is the new "24 hours in print" rule. What is amazing is that prior to this new rule, a bill could be debated, passed or killed before members even had a chance to read it.

We have a caucus system now where none existed before. The caucus shares certain powers and decisions with the Speaker. All night sessions? We have a new rule requiring a roll call vote to stay in session beyond 10 p.m. and that has dramatically reduced the number of ridiculous all-night sessions.

These new rules represent progress, but much remains to be done. On July 3 a small item appeared in the GLOBE regarding four new rule changes which our coalition has proposed for debate this fall when the legislative session resumes. Seventy members signed our petition, but a small, bi-partisan group, including myself, actually drafted the proposals.

The reforms proposed by our coalition have as much to do with management and saving tax dollars as with power. For example, each year over 8,000 bills are filed and hundreds of copies of each are printed. What a waste of money, especially since most are simply refiled from the previous session. We are proposing a "carryover" rule which simply means that any bill not acted on in the first year of a session is carried over to the next year. This will save hundreds of thousands of dollars in printing and personnel costs alone.

Again with the taxpayer in mind, we are advocating an expanded oversight role for committees. In addition to reviewing pending legislation, committees would be empowered to

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — August 1909

All previous fishing records at Haggetts Pond, were badly smashed last Saturday, when Timothy McCarthy, Edward Doherty, Richard Culbert, and Leon Jermain of Abbott Village, pulled in something like 175 fish, including bass, pickerel, white and yellow perch; the catch weighed about 50 pounds and is said to be the heaviest on record.

A new soloist has been secured for the Wonderland moving picture show and her singing is proving very popular.

L.D. Sherman, the local photographer and artist, has returned to Andover after spending the month of July in the woods.

The Editor of the Townsman has not the least interest in the personnel of the management of the streets of Andover, and doesn't care whether his name is Smith or Jones, whether he attends one church or another, whether he drives a red horse or a white mule. What is being striven for is such management of the twelve or fifteen thousand dollars that the town has annually appropriated for work on the highways, by somebody as shall intelligently and effectively make it count for good roads in the town.

50 Years Ago — August 1934

Two tennis courts and a new soccer field, with consequent enlargement of the left field area of the baseball diamond, will be added shortly to the present playing facilities at the Playstead, it was announced this week. The work will be done by the E.R.A. under Dr. J.J. Daly, local administrator. Approval has already been received from the E.R.A. officials in Boston, and work will begin as soon as the Corbett street sewer is finished.

The property of John Soehrens of 44 Whittier street was slightly damaged Tuesday morning when a horse owned and driven by Harry W. Martin of 170 Elm street bolted through a hedge and ran about the yard. It is thought that a bite by a hornet caused him to bolt.

Miss Carrie Grace Hill, a grammar school teacher in Andover since 1900, retired from teaching on July 25. Miss Hill was principal of the Bradlee School at the time of her retirement. It is probable that no new teacher will be appointed to take Miss Hill's place.

Miss Elaine Burt of Chestnut street, a graduate of Mount Holyoke in June, is taking a course in journalism at the School of Journalism in New York City.

25 Years Ago — August 1959

Work of improving the town dumping site on Chandler road began this week under the direction of Stanley Chlebowski, highway superintendent, at the request of Town Manager Thomas E. Duff. A bulldozer was put to work at the dumping site and pushed back tons of material which had been thrown in all directions and much of which has been burning and causing a smoke nuisance in the neighborhood. Truckloads of gravel are being transported to the scene and this gravel is being leveled to give the dump an orderly look.

Permission has been granted by the board of appeals for the remodeling of the carriage house at 40 Walnut ave. into an apartment. The favorable action was taken on the petition of Brooks Whitehouse Jr. following a public hearing on June 4. When renovated, the apartment will have two bedrooms and a bath on the first floor and a living room, dining space and kitchen on the second floor.

Jim Gurry, 16-year-old Andover Junior Amateur golf star is on the West Coast to take part in the U.S. Golf Association Junior Amateur tour being held at Palo Alto, Calif. Five other New England golfers are also on the trip. The three-day tournament in California has a field of 64 players from all parts of the United States.

We shall leave for historians' judgment and summation of the events in the Nation's Capitol of this past week. Suffice it to note that America has passed a difficult and crucial time in its history in a peaceful manner, and according to constitutional dictates. The points have been sufficiently made following the resignation of President oversee the implementation of laws and programs in state agencies. This change is much like the "sunset" bill which I cosponsored last year.

Finally, we want to forever do away with the notion that the Speaker can allocate office space and staff based on favoritism or voting record. By establishing a new, 11-member bipartisan committee to parcel out such items, we will be following many other states which structure their Legislature this way to insure impartial treatment of all members.

My colleagues who have served for many terms state over and over again that a "new day has dawned" in the House of Representatives. Dramatic change has occurred and will keep occurring. This bodes well for you and all citizens of the Commonwealth.

Your comments are always welcome. I can be reached at 722-2692 or Room 167, State House, Boston, MA 02133.

George Bruce

blueberries, and emerge from the woods at Lowell Junction, where an enterprising Lawrence businessman had set up a stand offering "Ballardvale ginger ale."

Among all the happy memories of his childhood, Mr. Bruce remembers fondly the time he spent working on a Ballardvale farm, haying, for ten cents an hour, "ten hours a day, a dollar a day. I used to enjoy that." He enjoyed picking strawberries on a West Andover farm, too, a job that earned him two cents a basket.

But "one of the greatest" of his memories is that of Ballardvale's Fourth of July celebrations during the '20s, grand affairs that began with a midnight bonfire in the village and lasted late into the following evening. There were races, picnics, band concerts. "It was quite the celebration," he says. "It was a tradition down there."

Except for one year spent on a laundry truck — "forget that, I hated that job" — Mr. Bruce has "been in sales all my life." He began at an age so tender he could not yet read: He wanted to earn a prize promised in a Raleigh coupon magazine promotion.

So he traveled from door to door, asking customers to fill out the coupons themselves. He must have been a natural salesman, because he earned the prize he'd had his eye on — and a rocking chair for his mother, too. (George adds that no one ever sold more tickets to the annual Congregational church fair than he did, either.)

At 16, George went to work at a co-operative food store, which later became the First National; at 17, during the first World War, he was transferred to the Lawrence store to serve as manager, and he stayed there until he joined the S.S. Pierce Co. in Boston, where his sales career began in earnest.

He sold food products for the Standard Brands company for 10 years, then went on to sell automotive supplies for Merry Tire and Supply of Andover, a now-defunct agent for Gulf gasoline stations, for 20 years.

From 1928 to 1939, he ran his own food market in Ballardvale, and Mr. Bruce was postmaster of a post office station in his store for the first nine of those eleven years. "That was fun," he says. "I used to know everybody from little children on up when I had the post office down there."

Mr. Bruce married Mary McGraw on June 23, 1923. His wife died two years ago; had she lived, they would have celebrated their 61st anniversary this year, he notes.

The Bruces moved into a house on Center Street in 1929, and Mr. Bruce lives there still. He likes to work around the house and in his garden, but tries to limit his gardening to two hours a day now, George says. (On the days that he "sneaks in" a little extra gardening time, he confesses, "I pay for it.")

Mary McGraw Bruce was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and on their 50th wedding anniversary the couple journeyed to her native country. Mrs. Bruce had not been back to Scotland in 60 years, her husband says, but the "amazing part" was that the streets of her old hometown began to look familiar to her within minutes, and she was able to find her way to her old schoolhouse.

The Bruces later enjoyed "six lovely trips" to Scotland, including one memorable visit that took them to Edinburgh and the Isle of Man, "one of our nicest trips."

(Bruce is such a fine old Scottish name that many find it hard to believe that George himself is not a Scotsman, he says. But his parents were in fact English, he explains, though perhaps of Scottish descent somewhere along the line.)

Although the Bruces had no children, George can boast of a family of more than 30 nieces and nephews, grandnieces and grandnephews, so loving that "they might just as well be my own," he says. "I've got a nice group." Many of them are in Andover.

Mr. Bruce's short-lived retirement came to an end the day he bumped into Rod Hill, who ran an Andover hardware store for "thirty some-odd years" before that store became Scanlon's.

When Mr. Hill asked how George was enjoying his retirement, George replied that he intended to be back at work, somewhere, within a week — and the store owner quickly offered him a job, "starting Monday morning."

He likes his job at the store because "I like people — I'm very fond of them. I like everybody." He intends to stay at Scanlon's "as long as I can. Mr. Scanlon told me I can come and go when I want to. They're very good to me here."

His 85th birthday became an all-day celebration Monday, with crackers and cheese, punch and a birthday cake at Scanlon's during the day; George stayed at the store hours longer than usual.

Later he enjoyed a birthday dinner at the Andover home of the Ed Parker family (Ed is one of George's nephews). That dinner featured another cake, and a birthday picture specially drawn by Susannah Parker, age four. Calls from his family came in from all over the state, too, he says.

The village of George Bruce's memory is gone, really: "Ballardvale has changed tremendously," he says. In recent years, as they sat on their front porch, he and his wife wondered why so many cars were traveling past them and up Tewksbury Street. They soon realized that 100 houses had been built on what was once a 100-acre farm nearby.

Another 75 or 80 houses are going up between Woburn and River streets now, he says, and the 'Vale's population has grown. The days when "you knew everybody and everybody knew you" belong to the past, along with many good friends made and lost over the years. Among the Ballardvale people of today, Mr. Bruce says, "there's a lot I don't know."

Still, "I like Ballardvale very much," the Mayor of Ballardvale says. "It's quaint. I've always enjoyed it down there — it's a sociable little town. I've had a good life down in the 'Vale, believe me." And that is not hard to believe, not hard at all.

To Resume Schedule

The Andover School Committee will be back to two meetings a month come September and set the dates for their next meetings at their regular meeting on Tuesday evening.

September meetings are set for Tuesday, Sept. 11, and Tuesday, Sept. 25, in the committee meeting room, upstairs in the school administration building, off Whittier Street.

Ruth Stars Post Tourney Wins

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Blue and Gold Babe Ruth All-Stars began a series of post-regular season tournament appearances this past weekend by winning two of three games in the fifth annual Waltham Invitational Youth Baseball Tournament at McKenna Field in that city.

The Andover 13-year-old Stars won their opener in the double-elimination affair, trimming Parkway of West Roxbury 10-6 behind the hitting of Mark Russell, Andy Shea and outstanding defense from Tom Murray and Glenn Farnham.

The Blue-Gold 14-year-olds remained alive in the competition, eliminating Marlboro 12-1 after dropping an 8-5 first-round decision to Belmont.

Righthander Glenn Allard came within one strike of firing his second tourney no-hitter in two years, but Marlboro's Dan Monfalcone slapped a two-out, two-strike single in the bottom of the seventh to spoil the no-hit bid. Glenn settled for a sharp one-hitter with 10 strikeouts.

The Andover teams were scheduled for action virtually every day this week.

The 14-15 year old All-Star squad battled Draught in the opening round of the Chelmsford Invitational Babe Ruth Tournament last Tuesday night, and that same crew faces Lynn this evening and Lowell Shedd on Saturday afternoon at Varney Field in Chelmsford.

The 13-year-old team returned to the diamond last night against Melrose in a winner's bracket contest at Waltham, and the 14-year-olds are scheduled to face either Waltham, Woburn or West Roxbury in the Waltham Tournament Saturday evening.

The 14-year-old Stars will also participate in the Winthrop Babe Ruth Invitational beginning this weekend, and other non-tournament related games include a doubleheader on Cape Cod against Harwich and a two-game series with the North Andover Pony League All-Stars.

The Andover 13's spotted West Roxbury a 4-0 lead in the second inning, then roared back with four runs in the third, four in the fifth and single tallies in the sixth and seventh en route to the triumph.

Lefthander Sean Phillips was the winning pitcher, tossing 6-1/3 innings of five-hit ball. He issued seven walks and struck out five.

John Russell and Tom Murray came on in relief before Andover nailed down the victory, West Roxbury rallying for a pair of runs and leaving the bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh. Murray collected the save.

Glenn Farnham made the defensive play of the game, ending the contest with a spectacular diving catch in right-centerfield to save two or possibly three runs and preserve the victory.

The Andover comeback from the 4-0 deficit started with five consecutive walks by Parkway starting hurler Rich Kane. The free passes were issued to Phillips, John Russell, Joe Lyons, Steve Howes (RBI) and Pat Breen (RBI). Andy Shea then ripped a two-run single to leftfield to tie it 4-4.

Lyons opened the four-run fifth with a single to centerfield, Howes walked, Breen was safe on a fielder's choice with Lyons cut down at third, and then Shea reached on an infield error to load the bases.

Mark Russell gave Andover its first lead by rifling a two-run single to rightfield and, after Chris McAnally walked, Farnham spanked another two-run single to center.

In the sixth Phillips singled and eventually scored on Howes' sacrifice fly to centerfield, and the final run in the seventh came on consecutive singles by Shea, Murray and Mark Russell.

Phillips tired in the seventh, walking three straight batters and going 2-0 on a fourth. Two more walks by reliever John Russell forced home a pair of runs, cutting the gap to 10-6.

Tom Murray then entered the contest, retiring West Roxbury's Ed Jackson on a fly to rightfielder Matt Pothier and getting Steve Dow when Farnham made his clutch grab.

Shea and Mark Russell paced the Andover attack with 2-for-4 efforts while Howes, Shea and Phillips scored two runs each. Murray was also a defensive standout at third base.

Belmont. 8-5

The Blue-Gold 14's suffered through a frustrating Waltham tourney opener against Belmont, committing seven errors and leaving 14 runners stranded on base in the seven-inning contest.

The locals bolted to a 4-0 lead after two innings, and starting pitcher Todd Rembis coasted through the first 3-1/3 frames as he permitted just one harmless single and struck out seven.

However, the stifling 90-degree heat took its toll as Rembis eventually tired in the fifth and was relieved by Steve Surette.

Surette tossed 2-1/3 innings of hitless ball, whiffing three and walking just one, but the porous Andover defense and the inability to hit in the clutch keyed the loss.

Blue-Gold jumped ahead 3-0 in the bottom of the first when Mark Tucker rapped a leadoff double (Andover outthit Belmont 11-4), Chris Concemi was hit by a pitch, and singles were spiked by Mike Lane, Bill O'Brien and Rembis.

Four walks enabled Andover to score its fourth run in the second, the free passes issued to Tom Tormey, Concemi, Glenn Allard and Lane (RBI). The locals did leave the bases loaded, however.

Belmont tied the contest with four runs in the fourth, key strokes two-run doubles by Pat Kelleher and complete-game winning pitcher Chris Caulfield. A hit batsman and two throwing errors also contributed to the damage.

The winners went ahead for good with four more runs in the fifth, despite the fact they didn't have a hit in the stanza. Three walks and four more errors were enough to put Blue-Gold in a hole it couldn't escape from.

Andover threatened in every inning thereafter, leaving two men aboard in the third, fourth, fifth and sixth.

The final Andover marker came in the bottom of the fourth when Concemi singled and Lane belted an RBI double.

In the fifth Blue-Gold wasted leadoff singles by Rembis and Kevin Dolan, with Belmont leftfielder Kelleher saving at least one run with a fine two-out diving catch of Mark Tucker's looping flyball.

In the sixth Concemi and Allard spanked leadoff singles, Lane bunted them along, but a soft liner to the pitcher and a routine groundout to shortstop ended that threat.

Dolan drew a one-out walk in the seventh, but Caulfield nailed down the win on an infield out and popup to short.

Blue-Gold. 12-1

The Andover 14's rode a 12-hit attack and the superb pitching of Glenn Allard to their 12-1 destruction of Marlboro.

Marlboro, a 10-5 loser to defending champ Foxboro in its opener, was eliminated from the tourney.

Allard's smooth delivery accounted for 10 strikeouts, and he came within one strike of the no-hitter. The lone safety was a sharp single to

Ghost Spooks School Grounds

The Department of Community Services Family Movie Program on August 13 will feature Walt Disney's "Blackbeard's Ghost."

The movie, which runs approximately 107 minutes, begins at dusk behind Doherty Junior High School. Peter Ustinov, Dean Jones, Suzanne Plshette star in this family comedy. Forced to wander in limbo until he does one good deed, the ghost is accidentally called upon by athletic coach Jones to help save an inn run by little old ladies claiming to be descendants of the pirate. Jumping into the task with gusto, Blackbeard helps Jones' pathetic track team win an important event and beats a gambler at his own game, having as much fun with these pranks as he had with piracy. "A delightful goody for the young and young-hearted."

rightfield, but the batter was safe at first by just a running stride as Tom Tormey fielded the ball cleanly and almost threw the man out.

Allard tossed a no-hitter against Natick in last year's Saugus Invitational Tournament, but lost the game 1-0 on a walk, stolen base and throwing error.

Marlboro hit just four balls out of the infield, and the lone run came in the fifth on two walks and a throwing error (Andover's lone misplay of the contest).

Blue-Gold moved ahead 2-0 in the second when Mark Tucker walked, Kevin Dolan walked, Todd Rembis loaded the bases with a bad-hop single, and Scott Wallace slapped a two-run single to right-centerfield.

In the third Glenn Allard walked, took second on a passed ball and raced across when Tucker lashed a sharp single to leftfield.

The four-run fourth featured a leadoff single by Bill O'Brien, an error allowing Rembis to reach, a two-run double by Chris Concegni, a walk to Allard, and a fence-rattling two-run double by Mike Lane (who homered at this field last year).

Two more runs crossed in the fifth on basehits by Tucker, Dolan and Tom Tormey (two RBIs).

The final three Andover runs came in the sixth as Allard drew his third walk, Lane singled, Tucker reached on an error to plate Allard, and Dolan drilled a two-run triple to the fence in centerfield.

Allard continued the assault on the fence in the seventh, belting a double halfway up the barrier in left-centerfield, but he was left stranded.

Lane, Tucker and Dolan paced the offense with two hits apiece, while Allard reached base four times and scored three runs.

On The Soccer Fields

By She Livermore

The Andover boys' soccer team, sponsored by the Hockey Shop, which has been competing in the Twilight Suburban Summer League, lost a close one to Concord July 22, 3-2, and were overwhelmed by a strong Belmont contingent, 5-1, the following evening. They got back on the winning track on July 25, defeating highly-skilled Acton 3-2; won two easy points from Bedford who failed to show; and finished up the season on August 1 by clobbering Woburn 6-0 in a game held to just 45 minutes due to the heat. The team's record for the season was 8-1-5.

Concord went ahead early in the game when they scored following a defensive miscue. Scott Wilkins tied it up when he scored off a long throw-in by Nick Bates. Concord came back with two more to go ahead 3-1 at the half. The second half saw Andover make repeated attempts to tally as they kept the ball in the Concord end much of the time, however, expert goaltending held them to one goal, a long shot by Paul Hevehan which Jeff Kennedy tipped into the net.

Belmont scored early in the contest. David Bartle made it 1-1 when he made a fine shot on net, on a pass from David Keene. Belmont pressed, made it 2-1 on a long shot which went sailing in high over Bobby Pothier's outstretched hands and added two more before the half ended. Andover fought back in the second half, however, Belmont's defense rose to the occasion and denied any good scoring opportunities. Andover was awarded a penalty shot which they did not complete and Belmont upped its total to 5-0 with a goal some players questioned actually did go into the net.

Andover lost to Acton earlier in the season 3-1 and as determined to be the victor on this occasion. Rick Bucher put Andover in the lead on a fine pass from David Doyle. Doyle made it 2-0 when he followed through on a throw by Bates. Acton got on the scoreboard when they completed a penalty shot (hands) and Hevehan closed out the scoring in the first half with the assist going to Bucher. Acton pressed repeatedly in the second and kept the ball in Andover's end much of the time, making many good attempts to penetrate the defense and set up a good shot on net; Dave Casanave, Bruce Crawford and John Drake did an outstanding job in defense and although Acton were successful on one occasion, Andover prevailed 3-2. In the second half Hevehan made an excellent attempt to up Andover's score, but the goal was denied (offsides).

On a very hot evening Andover played Woburn away and tallied six unanswered goals. Bucher scored first when he picked up the rebound of Keene's attempt to score and beat the keeper. Glenn Livermore made it 2-0 when he blasted in the rebound of a Charis Sapuppo shot. Mike Hardock, who was high scorer on the West Junor High School team last fall, upped Andover's lead when he scored a hat trick. His first goal was unassisted; his second was a follow-through on a great long shot made by Hevehan off a pass by Livermore; Keene set up his hat trick when he carried the ball from midfield and made an excellent cross to Hardock who kicked it into the net. Doyle completed Andover's scoring when the keeper, who had worked very hard throughout the game to minimize his team's loss, came out too far and Doyle shot the ball into the empty net.

The Indian Ridge swim team scored its second win of the season with a decisive victory over Sun Valley by an impressive score of 313-181.

Quadruple winners Michele Fox and Chris Hart and triple winners J.B. Burgess, Cathy Smith and Nicki DeMartino helped lead the team to victory. Hart won the 12 & Under freestyle, butterfly and I.M. and swam the butterfly leg on the winning medley relay. Jim Regan won the boys' free and butterfly and was second in breaststroke.

Indian Ridge couldn't keep its momentum going, however, and lost a hard-fought 254-245 decision to Winchester Swim Club. Indian Ridge won the individual events 231-212, but their guests' greater depth helped them win six of the eight relay races, which provided the margin of victory.

Michele Fox and Chris Hart were again quadruple victors, while Lisa Fox and Cathy Smith tripled. Michele won the 14 & Under fly and back and the 18 & Under medley relay. Hart won the 12 & Under free, fly and I.M. and was on the boys' 12 & Under medley relay. Electric Company Begins Purchasing Surplus Power

New England Electric has begun purchasing surplus power from Refuse Fuels Associates (RFA), the first trash-to-electricity complex to be completed in New England.

Through the purchase of an estimated 50 million kilowatt-hours a year from the RFA complex, New England Electric will have approximately $375,000 a year in fuel costs for the customers of its three retail companies: Massachusetts Electric, Narragansett Electric in Rhode Island and Granite State Electric in New Hampshire.

"Everyone benefits from this trash-to-electricity project," said John F. Kaslow, president of New England Power Company, the unit of New England Electric that will receive RFA power. "The project helps to solve the problem of solid waste disposal for cities and towns, develops a valuable alternate energy resource and reduces our companies' use of expensive oil."

Refuse Fuels Associates operates its trash-to-electricity complex in Haverhill and Lawrence. A processing plant in Haverhill reduces 1,200 tons of solid waste a day into refuse derived fuel. The processed fuel is then trucked to a generating facility at the Arlington Mills Complex in Lawrence, a specially designed boiler at the Arlington Mills location converts refuse-derived fuel into both steam and electricity. The steam is fed to several industrial customers and to public housing operated by the Lawrence Housing Authority. Surplus electricity is sold to New England Electric.

"New England Electric has a long range planning effort, NEESPLAN, whose objectives are keeping customers' costs to a minimum and reducing reliance on foreign oil," added Kaslow. "As part of that plan, one goal is to include 300 megawatts of alternate energy and cogeneration in our mix and we anticipate that 175 megawatts will come from trash conversion facilities, like the Refuse Fuels complex."

"The long-term purchasing agreement with New England Electric was one of the key steps in allowing construction of our trash-to-electricity complex to commence in June 1982," said James E. Ricci, vice president of Refuse Fuels Associates.

During planning and construction, Refuse Fuels completed agreements to receive trash for the complex from eight municipalities including Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell, Leominster, Essex, Salisbury, Danvers and Salem, N.H.

New England Electric is a public utility holding company headquartered in Westborough. New England Power Company is its wholesale generating subsidiary. Other system subsidiaries include Massachusetts Electric Company, The Narragansett Electric Company in Rhode Island and Granite State Electric in New Hampshire, New England Energy, Inc., a fuels and exploration development company, New England Electric Transmission Corporation, an international transmission service company, and NEES Energy, a conservation service company.

Refuse Fuels, Inc., which operates the Refuse Fuels Associates project, is a privately held company.

Cesium Clocks

Once every four years, horologists, the world's time-keepers, adjust for the six extra hours in the solar year by tacking an additional day onto the calendar.

A similar adjustment must be made periodically to keep the U.S. government's cesium clocks, located around the world, on time.

Since 1972, cesium clocks—also known as atomic clocks—have been the measuring devices for a time standard called International Atomic Time, used for satellite tracking and other technical applications. These cesium clocks are so stable that they late a one-second error would require almost 32,000 years to accumulate.

The Boston University Program in Artisanry will present the works of one of the country's most controversial craftsman, J. Fred Woell, from August 22 to September 18, at the Program in Artisanry Gallery, George Sherman Union Building, 775 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston.

Currently a professor at Boston University's Program in Artisanry, Woell gained national recognition in the '60s when he was invited to show his work in New York at the Art of Personal Adornment Exhibit in the Museum of Contemporary Crafts. Known for incorporating social statements into his art works, Woell uses his sense of humor to make serious subjects more palatable.

structed, he said. The $200,000 needed to renovate the Shawsheen School was appropriated by town meeting voters this spring from the general fund, which is where the $100,000 will go if the state approves the town's request.

According to William Curley, of the state Department of Education's School Building Assistance Bureau, the 12 member state Board of Education will consider whether the course offerings and space utilized in the building are up to state specifications. In addition the school must comply with laws that mandate access to the building by handicapped persons. The Shawsheen School will have a ramp installed for this purpose.

It may take at least three months for the state to make a decision on Andover's application, Curley said.

Bicentennial

United Methodist from all over New England will celebrate the American Methodist Bicentennial at a United Methodist Day at the Cathedral of the Pines, Rindge, N.H., on Sunday, Aug. 12, at 3 p.m.

Bishop George W. Bashore, spiritual leader of nearly 130,000 United Methodists in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, eastern Connecticut, Maine and New Hampshire, will be the preacher.

The Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States was established at the Christmas Conference in Baltimore on Christmas Eve 1784. Approximately 60 preachers gathered to establish the formal American structure of a movement begun in England 18th century by John Wesley. That small church, which followed the westward pioneer expansion of America, has grown to 9.5 million United Methodists as well as seven million Methodists in other denominations who trace their roots in the U.S. to the Christmas Conference.

Methodism came to New England officially with the appointment in 1790 of Jesse Lee, the Apostle of American Methodism, to New England.

Irish Festival

Performers from Ireland, Scotland and across the United States will gather August 25 and 26 at Sullivan Stadium, Foxboro, for the first annual New England Irish Festival.

Heading the lineup will be the Chieftains and Tommy Makem and Liam Clancy, two of the world's top Irish musical groups.

al Credit Union, 68 Main St., and at St. Matthews' Lodge, the detective added.

The arrest was made "through the combined efforts of the detective division and the uniformed branch," Det. Bernhardt said. "It was quite an effort — a lot of guys put in a lot of hours around the clock."

Police "spent many hours up in the square, late nights and early mornings," waiting for the suspect, he explained. "One guy even sat in a dumpster all night."

At one point the alleged thief threw off the police by changing his pattern and breaking into a building on a week night: "That baffled us," Bernhardt said.

Led by Det. Sgt. John Houlihan, those who took part in the investigation were Dets. Dave Grant, Joseph Hastings, Kevin Winters and Bernhardt; and Officers Donald Patullo, William MacKenzie, Kevin Burke, Harry Collins and Mark McDermott.

SETTLING PERSONAL INJURY CLAIMS

Persons injured in accidents are often contacted directly by an insurance company and asked to give details of the accident or discuss settlement. Talking to an insurance adjuster yourself or settling your claim before you understand its true value can be a very costly mistake. It is wise to consult an attorney as soon as possible and to refer all questions concerning the accident to your attorney. Contact Neil E. Onerheim or John S. Wessler. Initial consultation without charge or obligation.

Fine Jewelry At Andover Precious Metals

Frank DiVencenzo, owner of Andover Precious Metals, 77 Main St., says you shouldn't buy gold without weighing it first.

At Andover Precious Metals all jewelry is weighed so the customer knows exactly what they're getting. Two chains may look exactly alike but when you weigh them you'll find one chain is hollow thus weighing less and being less expensive.

This is just one example proving that Andover Precious Metals is not your average jewelry store. Filled with top quality jewelry that Frank personally guarantees, Andover Precious Metals has the best prices around.

At Andover Precious Metals you get what you pay for. Quality is important to Frank because it's his reputation. And Frank discounts everything in the store meaning great savings for you!

In addition to their extensive selection of gold chains, this jewelry store has a wide assortment of diamonds in all price ranges as well as other beautiful jewelry pieces. All diamonds sell at 1/2 off!

Some jewelers just sell jewelry but at Andover Precious Metals they make Jewelry: set diamonds, design and hand make pieces of jewelry, make chains and bracelets and even do all repairs right in the shop. Many repairs can be done while you wait such as diamond resetting, sizing and chain repair.

As an authorized Seiko dealer Frank also carries a large selection of men's and women's quartz watches. There's also a distinctive selection of clocks.

The next time you're in the market for jewelry or stuck for a gift, stop by Andover Precious Metals. Open Mon. - Sat. 9:30 - 5:30. Tel. 470-2270.

ALTERING THE SALES AGREEMENT

Probably the most important document in the purchase of real estate is the purchase and sales contract. Most of these come in pre-printed form, devised either by local or state real estate boards. In its simplest form, the blanks are filled in where appropriate. If there are no changes or additions, it's utopia. However, this is not usually the case where two parties are involved.

Basic preprinted contract forms can be modified simply by crossing out unacceptable language and inserting changes. Such revisions must then be initiated by all parties to the agreement. If you object to an entire section of a preprinted form or want to add new material, it's best to write new language on a separate piece of paper and attach it to the basic contract. Such "addenda" must be signed by both buyer and seller to be valid.

Make sure the basic contract indicates the existence of addenda so that accidental detachment will not undermine all your work. Modifications can be originated by either party.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 5 PUNCHARD Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

Fire At Former Dump Site Battled For 20 Hours

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Aided by heavy earth-moving equipment, firefighters spent 20 hours putting out a smoky fire that erupted at the old town dump on Chandler Road Friday night. The fire apparently started spontaneously when heat and gases accumulated in the landfill area.

Fire Department Deputy Robert Boush said this week that two pumpers manned by two engine crews were called to the West Andover dump site at 7:37 p.m. Friday, after the department received "numerous calls" about the fire.

Firefighters found "a lot of dead vegetation" burning, including tree limbs and branches, in the rear section of the dump near the railroad bed, Boush said. The fire was confined to the dump, and no other property in the area was damaged, he added.

No one was hurt during the long battle to put out the fire, but the heavy smoke included gases from the dump, and Boush said he was not certain whether area residents were affected later by smoke "lingering" in the neighborhood.

Fire officials believe the fire was started by natural causes — heat and gases building up in the deep landfill — but are still looking into other possible causes, the deputy said.

Soon after they arrived on the scene, firefighters called in earth-moving equipment, including five bulldozers and one large back hoe. Some of that equipment came from the town's Public Works department and some from private contractors, Boush said.

The heavy equipment was used to dig out the landfill, which is approximately 30 feet deep, and spread out the burning fill so firefighters could hose it down.

The decision to bring in that equipment early in the effort was a "very good" one, the deputy explained, because once a landfill fire gets started it can spread underground very quickly — and burn for weeks or even months.

(Two years ago, Salem, N.H., struggled with a landfill fire for several months, and Middleton had a similar problem at its town landfill, Boush noted.)

Fire crews had no problem keeping spectators away during the 20-hour effort because the fire was entirely within the old dump site, and the fire department kept the gates to the dump closed and locked, the deputy said.

The town's Municipal Maintenance department plans to build new playing fields at the former landfill; annual town meeting this year appropriated $30,000 to begin trucking donated loam onto the site to create four fields.

Municipal Maintenance Director Gerry Dion said yesterday he had yet to hear a full report from the department's Parks and Grounds division on damage caused by Friday's fire, and was not sure whether plans for the playing fields would be affected.
